

Nontraditional Day in the Life

Save to myBoK

Today, more than 60 percent of AHIMA members work in the hospital setting, but there's a growing contingent of "nontraditional" members who work in these facilities. And as healthcare diversifies, so will HIM. Here, HIM professionals from a long-term care hospital, a clinical resource management department, and a software development company explain how they got there and why they stay.

Clinical Resource Management: Driven by Data

by R. William Treloar

Long-term Acute Care: the Effect of PPS

by Pam Smith, CCS

Software Development: From Conception to Implementation

by Mary Ellen Mahoney, MS, RHIA

---

Article citation:

"A Nontraditional Day in the Life." Journal of AHIMA 74, no.9 (October 2003): 26-33.

---

Driving the Power of Knowledge

Copyright 2022 by The American Health Information Management Association. All Rights Reserved.